Offers submitted after the deadline will not be considered.

Before the deadline for submitting offers, the Bidder has the right to:

11. OFFER EVALUATION CRITERIA, WEIGHTING AND SCORING METHOD

When selecting the offer, the Contracting Authority will apply the following criteria:

- Net offer price [Co] – 90%
- Warranty period granted [Og] – 10%

The most advantageous offer will be the one that receives the highest number of points according to the formula:

$$P = (Co * 90\%) + (Og * 10\%)$$

Where:

- each criterion will be evaluated on a scale from 0 to 100,
- obtained scores will be rounded to four decimal places,
- evaluation will include the total proposed price for the subject of the order (subtask). The scoring method also includes the criterion concerning the warranty period.

If offers are submitted in a foreign currency, the offer value will be converted using the average NBP exchange rate from the last business day preceding the day of selection of the most advantageous offer – preparation of the protocol.

Ad. 1 Price criterion (Co)

For the criterion "net offer price", the Bidder who proposes the lowest price for the subject of the order will receive the maximum score (100 points), and each subsequent offer will be scored according to the formula:

$$Co = (\text{Lowest proposed price} / \text{Price of the evaluated offer}) * 100$$

Ad. 2 Warranty period criterion (Og)

Points will be awarded according to the following table. The warranty period shall be counted in months from the delivery completed by signing the final acceptance protocol.

Proposed warranty period	Points awarded
12 months from delivery	20
13 to 18 months from delivery	40
19 to 23 months from delivery	60
24 months or more from delivery	100

If the Contracting Authority cannot select the most advantageous offer because offers received the same score, the Contracting Authority will request the Bidders to submit additional offers within the deadline specified by the Contracting Authority. Bidders submitting additional offers may not offer higher prices than those proposed in their original offers.

The Contracting Authority may request explanations if it suspects an abnormally low price in relation to the subject of the order, as described above.
